

Process Development

Phase-appropriate support, tailored to your product's lifecycle

Your Process Is the Product

In cell and gene therapies, your process is the product. Our team of experts develops, defines and refines processes for maximum efficiency and scale. Here's what you get when you work with us:

- + Consistent Product Quality: Quality by Design processes tailored to your target product profile, assessed risk, critical quality attributes and process parameters
- + Flexibility: Modular, semi-automated operations that facilitate tech transfer and minimize the need for design modifications or equipment upgrades
- + Versatility: Stage appropriate, right-sized support for everything from unit operations or process steps to entire programs
- + GMP Assurance: Robust, reproducible processes that transfer to GMP labs and scale to commercial manufacturing
- + Innovation: Exploration and investment in the latest equipment, technologies, and methods that complements the tried and true
- + A Dedicated Team: Collaboration and communication from a team committed to the timely delivery of your project
